

The Wilf Knight Award

The Wilf Knight Award for academic achievement is awarded annually usually as part of the Security Excellence Awards. Patricia Knight, retired Fellow of the Security Institute and Wilf's widow, is usually invited by Syl to make the presentation.

Wilf Knight was a very well respected and connected Institute Fellow, with a passion for the development of our profession. This award recognises academic excellence, from nominations received from participating universities, for an outstanding piece of work that reflects the ongoing development of security. The award comprises a glass trophy, framed certificate and £500.

Winners

Year	Recipient	University
2009	Danie Adendorff	Loughborough University
2010	Angus Darroch-Warren	Loughborough University
2011	Leonie Darbon/Matt Mackmin	University of Leicester/Cranfield University
2012	Ian Middleton	Cranfield University
2013	Adam Jones	Bucks New University
2014	Andy Bowers	Portsmouth University
2015	James Eaton	Bucks New University
2016	Tahia Zaidi	Cranfield University
2017
2018		